THE CONCERT SY MENTER'S CORNET BAND All the praises we had previously heard spo-ken of the performance of this band and the singing of Mons. Colliere had not prepared uffor the delicious feast of music which we en joyed at their concert last night. The music of the Cornet Band is really exquisite. It was far superior to anything we have ever heard from a brass hand. At one time soft, sweet and silvery, it fell upon the ear so gently that the dream-land, where the charming voices o ness of care and pain. At another time, rising with powerful cadeace, an irresistible torrent of sweet sound. The execution of all the mem-bers of the band was excellent, but Mr. Menwas certainly unrivailed, as also was Mr.
